

EDA Virtual Annual Convention 2020

"Milk & Dairy: Essential for Your Life!"

On Friday 20 November 2020, we hosted our EDA Annual Convention under the headline 'Milk and Dairy: Essential for your Life!'. Together with over 200 participants, we had the great pleasure to (virtually) bring together our EDA President Michel Nalet, Prof Dr Peer Ederer from the Global Food and Agribusiness Network, Claire Bury, Deputy Director General at DG SANTE in charge of Food Sustainability, Dr Judith Bryans, CEO DairyUK and George Morrison, Director of Global Affairs at Arla Foods.

With the European Green Deal and Farm-to-Fork strategy being on the front line of the EU agenda, our EDA conference offered an insightful debate on the future environment of our EU dairy sector, recalling the health and nutritional value of milk and dairy, as well as our role and vision in a transition towards a climate-neutral Europe 2050.

Dairy must fight and act!

EDA annual convention 2020 - online

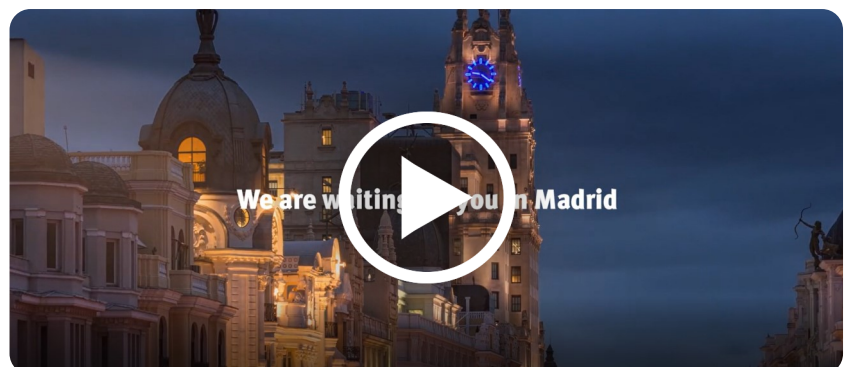

Opening the annual convention of EDA (European Dairy association), EDA president Michel Nalet (pictured), pointed out to the situation of the industry that is overshadowed by Brexit, taking place in a mere 40 days and a lack of dynamics in EU markets. The online event counted 250 registered participants representing the dairy industry, the public sector, politics and associations not only from Europe but also from North and South America and a number of other countries.

The convention focused on sustainability and how the dairy industry can help reach climate protection goals while keeping staff and rural livelihood intact and carrying on supplying high-quality products to consumers. Under the motto "EU for your life!", Nalet highlighted that the European dairy sector is fully in line with the Green Deal that is intended to lead to a climate neutral Continent by 2050.
